DEFINITION OF A LANGUAGE TEACHER ASSOCIATION

1. Networking

A language teacher association is an association of like-minded professionals, usually a nonprofit organization. The members are the focus of all the association's work, because without them there is no association. It promotes professionalism, provides an opportunity to establish contacts and supports the exchange of experiences and cooperation among language teachers (networking), represents the members in public, and more.

„(Der Verband gilt) als Zusammenschluss von allen, die sich mit der Vermittlung und Erforschung der Sprachen – bei uns der deutschen Sprache – in irgendeiner Weise beschäftigen. Er dient dem Austausch untereinander und dem Dazulernen von neuem Wissen von Experten und im Team“. (SDUNJ, Slowenischer Deutschlehrerverband, Slovenia)

2. Education, training and publications

The promotion of enhanced / increased training and education of the members is an important part of the association's work and serves to professionalize the profession. For this purpose, there are also events or information on innovations in practice and research. The association serves as a forum for teachers in order to spread examples of best practice. In several countries associations are either active in producing teaching materials and other specialized literature (e.g. SUKOL, Finland - National Language Test), or they review the material prior to publication. (In Iceland, this is the case when the authors apply for grants from government for further development of their materials / books / programmes).

„Unser Verband hat die Ziele, .... zur Professionalisierung des Berufs und zur Weiterentwicklung des Fachs beizutragen, indem wir Möglichkeiten zur Aus- und Weiterbildung anbieten. (Arbeitskreis Deutsch als Fremdsprache in der Schweiz, Switzerland)

3. Advocacy

As an advisory body for education and school authorities at each school level, a language teacher association represents the interests of members in order to promote languages and the teaching and learning of languages. In many countries, the language teacher associations play an important role as contacts and professional advisers for public policy makers. Often, however, it depends on the minister of education, whether and to what extent the language teachers' associations are recognized as contacts.

“Representing teachers’ views on policy making bodies is very important in these years, as the school system is changing, and we feel the influence of e.g. other European countries...Disseminating information about new developments in policy”. (Sproglærerforeningen Danmark, German section, Denmark)

4. Cooperation: cultural institutions and other language teachers' associations

A language teachers' association cooperates with partners of various kinds, such as other language teachers' associations in their own country, embassies and representative offices of foreign culture, e.g. culture sponsors/institutes such as the Goethe Institute, Alliance Française, British Council etc., to promote languages and to support language teachers. It is also about strengthening the cultural ties and understanding of multilingualism.

“Cooperation between teachers of English, German, French and Danish as a second language”. (Sproglærerforeningen Danmark, Denmark)

„Er soll mit anderen (nicht) offiziellen Institutionen zusammen arbeiten [Botschaften; Goethe Instituten; verschiedene Universitäten, Sprachschulen usw.] sowie mit anderen (Sprach)Verbänden“. (APPA, Portugal)

„Das Ziel des DLV ist die Förderung des Erlernens und Lehrens der deutschen Sprache, sowie die Erweiterung und Festigung der kulturellen Beziehungen der Republik Kasachstan mit den deutschsprachigen Ländern“. (DLV, Kasachstan)

5. Public relations

One of the main roles of a language teachers' association is to try to expand the understanding of the importance of languages at all levels in society and contribute to a better understanding in a multicultural society, by organizing public relations activities such as student competitions, speech days and public events during the European Day of Languages.

6. International cooperation

National associations are often members of either mono- or multilingual international organizations, such as IDV, or FIPF or FIPLV. Networking and cooperation in the broadest sense of the word are the main arguments for a membership. Other advantages include participation in international projects, conferences and seminars abroad. All this also serves to increase the professionalism of teachers, to develop joint strategies to promote languages and to strengthen collegiality. More intensive international collaboration is one of the main tasks for the future.

“(il faut) Développer la coopération à l'échelle nationale et internationale avec des associations et autres organismes dans le cadre du profil de nos activités associatives”. (Association des professeurs de français, Saint-Pétersbourg, Russia)

“Die Kooperation zwischen Kollegen nicht nur innerhalb sondern auch außerhalb Italiens (ist) noch stärker zu fördern”. (AIG, Italy)
