President of Language Teachers' Association of Lithuania (LKPA).The association (www.lkpa.uki.vu.lt) was founded in December 2006 to build bridges between the existing associations of teachers of English, Lithuanian and some other languages as well as between professionals who work for universities, schools and language centres. At present, there are over one hundred members. They are teachers of the most popular languages taught in Lithuania: English, German, French, Italian and some others.

The main purposes of the Association are :

- to represent the needs of language teachers, language teaching institutions, and associations;
- to make proposals and recommendations regarding language teaching curriculum design and teaching resource preparation to the Government and organizations rendering language teaching services;
- to encourage creativity and innovations in teaching and learning languages.

At present the association works on REAL 2 project and is responsible for the dissemination of the project products and results.
